

Beginning later this year, consumers will see “Get the Facts” on the front of Kellogg’s ready-to-eat cereal packages in Canada. The banner will provide key nutrition information at-a-glance for consumers to quickly assess how a cereal meets the recommendations of Canada’s Food Guide for calories, total fat, sodium and sugar.